

Exciting post-Congress workshops

Thursday 7th September

Two workshops will be held on Thursday 7th September at the Marriott Crystal Towers, Cape Town.

SAAFoST Sensory workshop

sponsored by Compusense. The workshop will focus on sensory methodologies that are ideal for use in industry. This workshop will appeal to those involved in sensory analysis or consumer insights. Speakers will include four renowned international experts (Suzanne Pecore, Anne Goldman, John Castura and Michael Meyner), as well as local experts in the sensory field.

Registration fee R1 500 (VAT incl.).

Delegates who have also registered to attend the SAAFoST Congress will benefit from a preferential registration fee of R1 100 (VAT incl).

“Are South African consumers moving towards healthy eating?”

organised by ILSI South Africa, this one-day workshop seeks to understand whether South African consumers are mindful of healthy eating and what this entails. Whilst food innovation and renovation is top of mind globally, it is important to understand the needs and expectations of all stakeholders, whilst elucidating the possibilities that science can offer in providing food that contributes to a healthy lifestyle. The workshop aims to provide fresh and exciting insights on relevant topics presented by experts from various sectors in the food science, nutrition and health arenas. Speakers will include local and international experts in this area.

Registration fee R1 710 (VAT inc.I).
